

INTERNATIONAL TRADE AND FINANCE DEPARTMENT

General Information

Our department received its first undergraduate students in 2013 under the name of "International Trade" program. As of 2020, it accepts students as "International Trade and Finance" in line with the decision taken by the Council of Higher Education. Maintaining its dynamic structure as a boutique department, the "International Trade and Finance" department continues to add value to the society and the business world by including new players every year to Turkey's global trade team.

Employment Opportunities

Our graduates can work in public institutions such as the Ministry of Commerce, Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Central Bank and Eximbank, as well as in the international marketing and trade departments of the enterprises, and in businesses that offer international transportation and logistics services. They can work as an employee and manager in international fair and exhibition organizer enterprises, as an expert in financial institutions in the field of trade finance, as a researcher and manager in European Union institutions. Besides of them, they also have the opportunity to take part in the sector as entrepreneurs.

Student Exchange Programs

Within the scope of exchange programs (Erasmus and Mevlana) in our department, our students can go to different countries and have the opportunity to get to know the foreign countries more closely (such as education, culture and social life). As the Department of International Trade and Finance, we have bilateral agreements with 15 countries in the Erasmus exchange program and with 7 countries in the Mevlana exchange program.

Student Communities

The "21 Days 37 Degrees Business Club", (referring to the day required for an egg to turn into a chick and the appropriate temperature) which is the student community of our department and established in 2014, has reached approximately 20,000 listeners with nearly 100 events so far. Thanks to our community in which our students play an active role, our students learn by experiencing process management and business planning and can directly contact many people from the sector.
